

Call for Visiting Research Fellowships at ZMO, 2010

Zentrum Moderner Orient
Kirchweg 33

14129 Berlin
GERMANY

ZMO (Zentrum Moderner Orient) in Berlin is advertising Visiting Research Fellowships for 2010, for researchers engaging in projects relevant to ZMO's research profile (see webpage at www.zmo.de). ZMO is an interdisciplinary research institute with an international community of researchers pursuing research with regional and trans-regional focus on societies in Africa, the Middle East, and South- and South-East Asia and their interrelations (as well as their relations to Europe).

The call is open for senior researchers and recent postdocs as well as finishing PhD students in the humanities and social sciences. They are invited to apply for a monthly stipend (1500 EUR for PhD students, 2500 EUR for all postdoctoral researchers) and a period of stay at the centre that should normally last 1-2 months. Slots are available throughout the year, and as we will allocate fellowships throughout all the months of the year, we ask applicants to indicate their preferred month(s) of stay as well as their potential flexibility. ZMO particularly encourages applications by candidates from Africa, the Middle East, and South- and South-East Asia.

The applications will be reviewed by a ZMO selection committee. The decisions should be made within a period of six weeks after the deadline for submission of applications. ZMO cannot supply any travel funds.

Applications can be emailed or posted, and should include:

- CV, including complete list of publications
- Project description of research project to be worked upon during visit (max. 3 pages)
- For PhD students: two letters of reference

Deadline: 1 September 2009

ZMO also welcomes researchers who have already secured their own monies to pursue research at the centre, and encourage inquiries and applications along these lines as well. For selected projects and candidates, we will be able to supply office space and a highly stimulating research environment.
