

ZMO-Colloquium Winter Term 2020/21

Understanding Populism: State, Academia, and Civil Society

This colloquium series intends to bring scholars from diverse regions together to reflect both on the practices of the state as well as on the modes and means of interaction that manufacture populism. One of the core aims will be to avoid reiterating rhetorical stances in just blaming the states, but to adopt a dialogical process to understand the relationship between 'elected autocracies', political populism, and civil society.

24 September 2020, 5 pm

Transnational Network of 'Opinion Makers': Turkey's Responses to Islamophobia in Europe and the US
Sinem Adar, Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik, Berlin

28 January 2021, 5 pm

Historical Pedagogy: What Hindutva does with History
Tanika Sarkar, Jawaharlal Nehru University, Delhi

29 October 2020, 5 pm

Cinema, Sacred History and the State
Nacim Pak-Shiraz, University of Edinburgh

25 February 2021, 5 pm

How Europeans got engaged in the Pandemic
Swen Hutter, Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung

26 November 2020, 5 pm

Beyond the Struggle: South African Student Movements during the Transition to Democracy (c. 1990s)
Anne Heffernan, Durham University

All lectures will be held online.
Please register via registration@zmo.de

Conceptualization and Coordination: Nitin Sinha (ZMO)